Despite what all the “experts” told us for months, Donald Trump defeated Hillary Clinton and will be our next president. Without question, Americans went to the polls and told Washington to change its direction NOW. A large republican turnout fueled by the overwhelming support of evangelicals, of which 81% supported the new president, keyed the victory. And wasn’t it great that in the early hours of November 9, it was actually PA that provided the votes necessary to project Trump as our next president.

Although Trump was the main event, US Senator Pat Toomey was re-elected to the senate, providing a critical win for the republican majority. At the local level, Lloyd Smucker was elected to be our new US Congressman replacing our good friend, the retired Joe Pitts. Former County Commissioner Scott Martin was elected as the new State Senator, completing a clean sweep for Lancaster County Republicans.

For conservatives, the election of Trump and the defeat of Clinton was like a breath of fresh air or maybe more like a strong wind blowing across the country.

After 8 years of President Obama’s agenda pushing nearly everything we abhor, we can now look forward to a period of time where common sense conservatism will be the trend.

There are still many questions about the upcoming Trump presidency but it is clear that America is now on a different course and the men and women that he has proposed for his cabinet gives us hope and great optimism for the future. Many Americans were praying for this election and I believe that God is answering those prayers. Let’s keep praying for the Trump presidency as he makes many critical decisions in the days ahead.

Congratulations America! Dutch Reaction to Trump Victory 11/9/16

By Geert Wilders, Dutch Parliament

Yesterday, in the biggest democracy on earth, we witnessed a political revolution. The American people sent a powerful message to the world: Enough is enough, we want to be free again, we want to be great again!

Against the media, against the establishment, against the elites, against the odds, Donald Trump won the American elections, And what a victory!

A stunning and truly historic achievement, with the White House, the House and the Senate in Republican hands for the first time since 1928.

I never doubted Mr. Trump would win. We are witnessing the same uprising on both sides of the Atlantic. The Patriotic Spring is sweeping the Western world. People are standing up and liberating themselves.

Yesterday, the American people made it quite clear that they do not want to follow in Western European's footsteps. They do not want to give their country away. They want to preserve their nation, their freedoms, their prosperity. They felt the time for liberation had come.

The American voters no longer want to be represented by politicians who do not take their concerns seriously. They felt Donald Trump was the only one who listens to them. They want to protect their jobs rather than see them move abroad as a result of trade agreements which benefit other countries more than their own.

They are sick and tired of their tax money being spent on foreign needs, while domestic needs are growing. They oppose immigration policies which attract masses of people, many unskilled and from cultures incompatible with Western civilization. They demand a restoration of law and order, rather than see violence and insecurity rise to even higher levels.

It is not just Hillary Clinton who was beaten yesterday; the media and the chattering classes have been beaten. It is wonderful to see how, in America as well as in Europe, the media pundits and the elites have been taken by surprise.

For years, they have stubbornly refused to recognize the harm done to ordinary people by mass immigration and Islamation. The elites are completely out of touch with the problems, the worries and the fears of ordinary people. They react with condescension to the election of Donald Trump, in exactly the same way that, in 1980, they reacted to the election of Ronald Reagan.

After his election, Ronald Reagan went on to be the greatest President in our lifetime. He defeated the evil empire of Communism. He did it without violence. He stood firm, spoke the truth and conceded nothing.

This way, he inspired freedom loving people in Eastern Europe to liberate themselves from Soviet tyranny.

My hope - and expectation - is that Donald Trump will follow in Reagan's footsteps, that he will stand firm, speak the truth, concede nothing and, in doing so, inspire Western Europe to protect its freedoms against Islamization.

America has just liberated itself from political correctness. The American people expressed their desire to remain free and democratic people. Now it is time for Europe. We can and will do the same!
